The Grand Soiree to Aid Club Scholarships

From Wellesley Polly MacPhail, Edna Cullati, Elaine Wallace and Deborah Moore will attend the 17th annual Grand Soiree of the Intercollegiate Club of Boston on Saturday, December 2, from 8 to 12. Held to benefit the Club's Scholarship Fund, the dance will take place at the Harvard Club. It is being called a "Psychedelic Satire" and will spoof the "hippie" and "drug" theme. Music for dancing will be "traditional" and "Go-Go" by Harry Marshall. Entertainment will be furnished by "The Smithereens," a choral group from Smith College.

Wellesley "Hams" Offer Free Classes

A series of free classes designed to help the beginner in short-wave radio communication will be conducted by the Wellesley Amateur Radio Society, Marshall Cannell, President of the W.A.R.S., announced at the November meeting of the club that two separate courses will be taught by club members. The first will begin on Thursday, November 30 and is designed to teach the Federal Communications Commission's basic license requirements to those who are unfamiliar with radio theory. The second will begin on Tuesday, November 28 and will be to help those people who already hold a Novice license and wish to take the FCC examination for a Technician or General Class license.

The Wellesley Amateur Radio Society was formed during the Korean War to train radio operators for Civil Defense. A key station in the Wellesley Civil Defense Communications Net is located with an emergency power supply in the club's meeting room in the basement of the Wellesley Hills Branch of the Wellesley Free Library at the intersection of routes 9 and 16.

Those desiring further information may contact Walter Leuk, club secretary, at 237-9289, or come to the Club Room on the night of the class.

Irene Hennessey, Wellesley resident, nationally-known model and dedicated sportswoman, is scheduled to appear on Bob Kennedy's "Contact Show," WBZ-TV, with world-famous skier Sten Erikson. They are also planning to appear on "Dialing for Dollars," WNAC-TV, at which time Irene is to commentate on Head ski fashions. Irene and Sten are appealing for support for the U.S. Ski Team.

Woman's Club Armchair Travel Group Take-off

To most people, cruising represents the ultimate luxury travel, indulged in by those whose taste runs to caviar, champagne and sable in preference to sardines, Chianti and muskrat. However, on Thursday, November 30, the Travel Department of the Wellesley Hills Woman's Club invites its members and their guests to the Conference Room of the Wellesley Public Library to savor the sibilant delights offered by the Swedish-American Line as they cruise to enchanting regions in the Springtime. The Azores, Spain, Brittany, the vineyards of Bordeaux, the Channel Islands, Holland in blossom time, Devonshire and Cornwall with side trips to Bath and the Cotswold villages, romantic Wales, the Isle of Man, the dramatically beautiful Scottish fjords and the emerald isle, all capture our hearts in turn and make us wish we might linger to become better acquainted. This beautiful film, showing 37 days of life aboard one of the world's finest cruise ships, will be projected, with sound, by Mrs. Howard Staggs, herself an enthusiastic cruiser.

For those who have a shorter time for holidaying, Mrs. George Low suggests a small area of Europe where Nature is at her most magnificent best—Switzerland, Western Austria and Bavaria, which she visited and photographed this past summer. An ardent and experienced traveler, Mrs. Low has also found time in recent years to serve as President of the Wellesley Hills Woman's Club, as Chairman of the State Community Improvement Program, winning a $500 award for Wellesley, and, at present, she is the 12th District Director for the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs. The colorful slides of Alpine Wonderland enhanced by Mrs. Low's warm and thoughtful commentary will provide a fascinating hour.

Mrs. Kenneth Bowers, President of the Wellesley Hills Woman's Club, and Mrs. John L. Stearns will pour during the refreshment hour from 12:15 to 1 o'clock. Decorations carrying out the theme of the meeting are in charge of Mrs. Arthur Doran and Mrs. Roland Boardman while Miss Lucy Fisher, assisted by Mrs. Edward Garland, Mrs. Paul Scull, Mrs. Gordon Seabury and Mrs. Jerome Pastene, will provide the refreshments.

Mrs. George Paul, chairman of the Travel Department, feels that Springtime Odyssey and Alpine Wonderland provide a program with something of interest to all, and she cordially invites would-be or armchair travelers alike to come with a friend on Thursday, November 30.

Smith Grads in Area To Hear 3 Faculty

Smith College alumnae within a wide radius of Boston will gather in John Hancock Hall Tuesday, November 28, when three members of the faculty are scheduled to come from Northampton and present a day-long program entitled "The Creative Artist: A Three-Dimensional View." Ronald Hindmarsh, Lecturer in English; Vernon D. Gottwals, Jr., Professor of Music, and Charles Chetham, Director of the Smith College Museum of Art, will share their extensive knowledge of Robert Musil (a novelist), Joseph Haydn and Vincent van Gogh.

Women from the 12 member clubs in the Boston League of Smith College Clubs will serve as ushers and hostesses for the "Smith College Visits Boston" program which runs from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., with an 11 a.m. coffee break and a 12:30 p.m. luncheon in the Dorothy Quincy Suite.

Included from this area are Mrs. Stuart Edgerly, Jr., and Mrs. Robert C. Schrest.

Among those who have already reserved tickets for the November 28 affair are Mrs. Roger W. Bennett, Mrs. Jack S. Parker and Miss Catharine Patton of Wellesley.

Neighborhood News

October 31 was moving day for Dr. and Mrs. James J. High and their five children who moved from 155 Grove street to 38 Maugus avenue. Laurel, 12, is in the seventh grade at Wellesley Junior High School; James, 11, goes to the Phillips School; and John, 9½, Amy, 8, and Katherine, 6, attend the Kingsbury School. Dr. High practices medicine at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford.

Conservation Group to Walk in Town Forest

Sunday, November 26, is the date of the next walk sponsored by the Wellesley Conservation Council, Inc. 2:00 p.m. is the time, and the Town Forest, the place. Due to the early dusk and cooler weather we will start a half hour earlier. Meet at the main library parking lot at 2:00 o'clock to drive to the parking lot by Longfellow Pond on Oakland st.

Leader for the walk will be Robert L. Lienau, chairman of the Town Forest Committee and a long-time member. Afterwards, tea will be served at the nearby home of a Council member. Council members may bring guests and the public is cordially invited.

Town Forest
The Town Forest, a tract of over 200 acres, is town waterworks land, site of a number of wells. In 1953 the Selectmen appointed a permanent Town Forest Committee to work with the Department of Public Works in developing the area as the Rosemary Brook Town Forest.

A largely wooded area, it contains swamps and marshes, Longfellow Pond and its tributary, Rosemary Brook, which flows from Needham through Wellesley to the Charles. The Town Forest stretches from the Needham line near Wellesley ave. at Brookside rd., across Route 9 and over to the river. In addition, there is a large tract of Waterworks-Town Forest land in Needham.

Natural Features
Wildflowers, ferns and many native trees and a variety of wildlife are found here and in the spring it is one of the best "birding areas" in Wellesley, due to its varied terrain.

It is also an area of unique geological interest, its long ridges (or eskers and kettle holes) bearing evidence of the glacial origin of the terrain, part of the Boston Basin.

Mr. Lienau

Mr. Lienau grew up in Wellesley and knows the area well. Here he fished and hiked as a youngster and here also, his father, the late George L. Lienau, took many of his remarkable color pictures of wildflowers and trees. Robert Lienau is a graduate of the Stockbridge School of the University of Massachusetts, where he was an arboriculture major. He and his wife now live in Wellesley.

Other members of the Town Forest Committee are Frederick C. Williams, a member since its inception, and Mrs. Forrest N. Maddix, Jr., appointed to replace C. P. Cronk, who resigned last spring after serving as chairman for many years. Dr. and Mrs. Maddix live beside the pond in possibly the oldest house in Wellesley.

Wear warm clothes and sturdy, comfortable shoes or boots. Who knows? There may still be snow in some places!

A word to the wise may be sufficient, but few are willing to let it go at that.

Hustle has its place in everyone's life, but don't try to catch up with tomorrow.

St. John's Book Club Speaker to Be F.B.I. Agent

The next meeting of St. John's Book Club will be held on Tuesday, November 28, in the school hall. The library will be open at 7:30 p.m. for members and guests to return or obtain books.

The business meeting will begin in the hall at 8 o'clock with the Book Club president, Mrs. William M. Heffernan, presiding. The speaker of the evening will be James L. Handley, Special Agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Boston.

Mr. Handley, a native of Lowell, entered into the F.B.I. service as a Special Agent on August 11, 1941, having received his LL.B. degree from Northeastern University, Boston, the previous year. He served for a period in Springfield, Chicago, Washington, New York City and Minneapolis. In January 1964 he was designated Special Agent in charge of the Boston office.

The Book Club's officers and executive invite all the women of St. John's parish to attend this stimulating meeting. A special feature on the program will be a "Holiday Boutique." Each member is asked to bring a small gift that would be suitable for the holiday season. Gifts will be arranged on tables and sold at a small cost. This is an excellent opportunity to purchase Christmas gifts.

Immediately following the meeting refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. John Lee, hostess for the evening, assisted by the following members: Mrs. Paul Murphy, Mrs. Louis Sardina, Mrs. Robert Cuniff, Mrs. Joseph Pryor, Mrs. Robert Martel, Mrs. George Kelley, Mrs. Charles Goglia, Mrs. Edward Maguire, Mrs. Theodore Merlo, Mrs. Edward Lunney, Mrs. Robert Wheatley, Mrs. Vincent Harackiewicz and Mrs. Maryann Brooke. Pourers for the occasion will be Mrs. Joseph Pryor and Mrs. George Kelley.

Warren-Sprague PTA Open to Public Monday

The Warren and Sprague School PTA's, in co-operation with PTA central council, are pleased to announce their program for Monday evening, November 27 at 7:30 PM at the Warren School auditorium. The guest speaker will be the noted educator, John Holt, who is author of the best selling book "How Children Fail." Pitman Publishing Company 1964, and the just released book "How Children Learn."

Mr. Holt has been teaching and observing children for nearly fifteen years. He has taught fifth grade, mathematics, beginning reading and athletics in the elementary grades as well as several subjects in high school. He is presently a consultant at the Fayweather Street School in Cambridge, a soccer coach at the Commonwealth School in Boston and a summer school English teacher at Boston's Urban School. Born in New York City in 1923, Mr. Holt is a graduate of Yale University.

Mr. Holt is a gifted and provocative speaker whose observations cannot fail to help both parents and teachers in their efforts to help children learn.

School and College

Molly King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. King, 182 Bristol rd., has been elected vice-president of the freshman class at Salve Regina College in Newport, Rhode Island. Miss King is a 1967 graduate of Wellesley School.

Janice V. Mathews, daughter of Bishop and Mrs. James K. Mathews, 116 Glen rd., has been named to the Dean's List at the College of Wooster, Wooster, O. Miss Mathews is a 1965 graduate of Wellesley High School, where she belonged to the National Honor Society.

THE BARBARA GORDON SHOP NOW IS THE TIME

Believing as we do, that our National Day of Thanksgiving should never be over-shadowed by the colors of Christmas, We refrain from showing presents in our window until that day has passed. Now they will be filled with all the glitter and trim that We can conjure up. Angels in all mediums, trimmings for the tree from the tiniest Italian felt figures, Snow Birds and Snow Babies to medallions of great beauty, keep-sakes to add to from year to year. Do peek in, and come in to see the imported Christmas cards, and all the many truly unusual things that spell "Christmas."
